Cover Letter - Executive Summary

Dear Governing Body of the Cheyenne City Council,

My name is Chad Willett. I am currently the Manager of Get Bent, LLC, the applicant and legal property owner at 707 W. Lincolnway. I am excited to submit this application for consideration of award for the newest available Cheyenne Retail Liquor License.

Located at the corner of Lincolnway and Bent, and currently occupied by West Edge Collective, this 6,000 sq. ft. creative space was built in 2018 on a lot that had sat vacant for decades. This Commercial Zoned building utilizes reclaimed metal structure from Wyoming train bridges, flooring from early 1900's boxcars, and shipping containers hand-picked from a Denver shipping yard. Though it's served as home base for large street concerts (such as the Sugar Hill Gang and Coolio/Rob Base) and several community-hosted events, this space is often seen by its visitors as underutilized and under-developed.

In response to the availability of the full retail liquor license (Bar + Package Liquor Store Combo), West Edge Collective, Micro Pop-Up Concepts, and private investors propose to partner to develop a new legal entity to operate the license, as well as further develop the space. Both the landlord and tenant would invest significant dollars to develop the property and concept.

Together, as a joint effort, we are proud to introduce our vision for The Railspur. Sure to draw attention and business with its unique design and premise, The Railspur will specialize in cocktails, coffee and cuisine, and its design will enhance both the industrial and railroad heritage of the surrounding area's buildings. We anticipate being open to the public before the end of 2022.

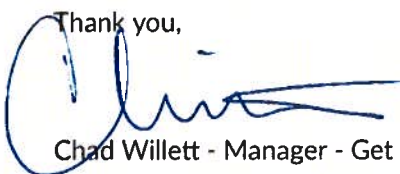

In addition to its design, what makes this proposed downtown destination particularly unique is its offerings. The Railspur will house a morning coffee bistro, offer hand-crafted cuisine throughout the day and into the evening, serve specialty drinks, and house a small boutique package liquor store. The Railspur will be the first facility of its kind in Cheyenne to transform from a family- and business-friendly establishment during the day to a high-energy 21+ bar after 9 p.m.

You will find that our plan does the following for Downtown Cheyenne:

1. Provides a destination for residents.
2. Offers an attraction for tourists.
3. Aligns with voter priorities.
4. Catalyzes rapid areawide transformation.
5. Creates 20+ more local jobs.
6. Reimagines an underutilized location.

We strongly advocate and request the governing body of the Cheyenne City Council award this license to Get Bent, LLC., and we truly do appreciate your time and consideration in this process.

Thank you,

Chad Willett - Manager - Get Bent, LLC

Applicant Background - Key Individuals

Due to the nature and timing of this application process, we are providing background information on the key individuals who will start The Railspur and become the lessee of the property. Although Get Bent, LLC, is the property owner and applicant, the new entity or joint venture will operate the license. At this time, that entity has not been established, but Get Bent, LLC, may opt to transfer the license once established. All individuals have clean criminal and financial histories, and have proven their abilities to run businesses. West Edge Collective has an opportunity to relocate the marketing firm in the immediate vicinity, and is willing to vacate the premises to see this project flourish.

Chad Willett

Chad is a Cheyenne native and local entrepreneur who has started and grown several local companies. He has participated, visioned and invested significant personal time and resources—as well as attracted additional public and private support—in the redevelopment of the West Edge District, the Reed Avenue Rail Corridor, 15th Street transformation and the overall creative economy. Chad can currently attribute over 3 dozen well-paying jobs in Cheyenne to companies he has started.

Juan Coronado

Texas Native Juan grew up traveling between northern Mexico and El Paso throughout his childhood. Having an indigenous American heritage, Juan has fond memories of his grandmother preparing traditional tamales on top of an old cast iron oven. After years of developing concepts in Colorado, he migrated north to Cheyenne.

Juan's experience comes from working with some of the best chefs in Denver. While attending Johnson & Wales University, he was Sous Chef at Panzano, an Italian restaurant with a history of developing great chefs. He then landed at the epicenter of what now is Tag Restaurant Group, collaborating on the development of multiple concepts as a brand-wide Executive Chef. In 2015, Juan was recruited by a local businessman with the goal of developing a restaurant in Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Once in Cheyenne, Coronado helped successfully launch The Metropolitan, where he met friend and business partner Seth Stefanik. Together, amidst a global pandemic, they created what is now Micro Pop-Up Concepts: An incubator of food and beverage concepts, including Los Conejos. Their food truck with the iconic Jackalope logo has quickly become a street food staple of Cheyenne, reviewed by locals in the know as the "best restaurant in town". Other concepts in the works include The Irwin and the 15th Street & Bent development.

Seth Stefanik

Seth, a chef and entrepreneur, was born and raised amongst the fields and streams of Wyoming. He has collected experience in everything the state has to offer, from ghost town exploration and arrowhead hunting, to becoming an avid young angler. While pursuing his culinary career, Seth accepted a scholarship and relocated to Jackson Hole. After several seasons as a resort chef in Jackson's finest establishments, Seth decided to continue his journey as a traveling chef.

Through the years, Seth has achieved high leadership positions that have allowed him to develop/revive and maintain food and beverage operations at resorts and restaurants across the United States. Through his travels, he's absorbed abundant amounts of American culture and concepts, making him a true specialist of American regional and world cuisine. Seth loves exploring indigenous experiences and cuisine, both locally and from around the world, then recreating these memories for his guests.

While working as an essential part of the management team at The Metropolitan in Cheyenne, Seth noticed a demand for chef-driven concepts in the area. When COVID struck, Seth saw an opportunity to meet that demand, and he teamed up with coworker and friend Juan Coronado to create Micro Pop-Up Concepts.

Passionate about local development and philanthropy, Seth is proud to be shaping the culinary landscape of his beloved hometown. Nothing is beyond the scope of his imagination.

Additional Parties

Legal ownership of Get Bent, LLC, includes West Edge Collective, LLC (20%), Mission 27, LLC (40%), and Phyllis Wagner (40%). Chad is the current manager of both Mission 27 and West Edge Collective, and therefore has full voting and control for the interest of those organizations. Phyllis Wagner (Chad's mom) was a key investor to get the property redevelopment started. Phyllis has agreed to sign an affidavit (attached) as required to ensure all application requirements and legal issues are taken care of as a part of this process. Phyllis currently co-resides between Arkansas and Cheyenne, and is a silent investor in the operations of Get Bent, LLC. Phyllis has no desire to influence or operate the new business concept, and prefers to continue to be a silent investor.

The new entity, The Railspur, may opt to invite additional investors into the organization. No new single investors outside of West Edge Collective or Micro Pop-up Concepts shall retain more than 10% equity ownership in the organization.

Property History

This property is a part of the original "West Edge" of Cheyenne. Prior to expansion of the city, this lot was an important railroad spur for the Military Department to access Fort D.A. Russell (now F.E. Warren AFB).

Home to various businesses and structures throughout its 150 year+ history, there has always been a connection to the railroad. As seen in this 1886 Sanborn Fire Insurance Map, the property started with many dwellings.

As depicted in this 1912 Sanborn Fire Insurance Map, the lot was flanked by multiple rail spurs. Large lumber warehouses on the property were utilized by the Grier Lumber Co. throughout the early 1900s.

Fast-forward 100 years, and the property is now at the intersection of the southern point of the Reed Avenue Rail Corridor, the westernmost point of 15th Street, and a key connection to future Greenway access.

In 2015, this property was a lay-down lot for a local mechanical contractor; a property seen as blighted and underutilized. Notice the area to the southwest for the city-owned lot known as the Pumphouse.

In 2021, notice the considerable transformation. Pumphouse Park has been constructed, this property has been partially developed, and much (not all) of the blight has been remediated.

Business Concept

This proposed downtown destination will house a morning coffee bistro, offer hand-crafted cuisine, serve specialty drinks, and be home to a small package liquor store.

The Railspur, which will be the first of its kind in Cheyenne, will transform from a family- and business-friendly establishment during the day into a high-energy 21+ bar after 9 p.m..

- Phase 1 (interior) to be completed in 2022
- Phase 2 (exterior) to be completed in 2023

The proposed dispensing room (with an anticipated 30' long bar) will be located on the westernmost end of the building near the southwest entrance (current open office in Figure 11). To the north of the bar area, there will be cold storage for kegs and cold alcohol (current kitchen in figure 11). The package liquor will go in the current conference room or video bay, with additional storage as required. Upstairs, the spaces will be utilized as extra social space, with the ability to rent rooms for private events as needed.

We will TIPS train all staff following all state statutes and requirements.

Permitting and Local Ordinances

We will follow all permitting and local building codes to ensure this property meets city requirements.

Alignment with Voter and City Council priorities

We feel strongly that this project aligns very well with many current voter and City Council priorities. As such, this will not only serve as a key intersection between those priorities but also ensure that an anchor destination is created. The rendering below (Figure 15) is currently supported by the Cheyenne Chamber of Commerce and Visit Cheyenne / Downtown Development Authority.

- In 2015, voters approved Sixth Penny ballot measures that included Greenway improvements (Ames Avenue connector) and the West Edge and Reed Avenue Rail Corridor.
- In 2021, voters approved additional ballot measures for Greenway and Downtown Projects (Proposition 7, 8 & 10) .
- In January 2022, the City Council defined two of their goals as the Reed Avenue Rail Corridor and the 15th Street Experience.
